A New Paper In Dixon

The Rock River Assemblian is a new candidate for journalistic favors which the management of the Lutheran Assembly have placed before the public. The paper is printed at THE TELEGRAPH office and we propose to make it typographically a Quarterly worthy its proclaimed object: "Christian culture, science and art."

A Quiet Wedding.

It is not often that a real sensation of the secret marriage sort leaks out in our city as suddenly as it did this morning over on Ottawa and Fifth, when the people learned that Manly Newman and Mary Farley were man and wife. In fact, they confees that their two hearts have beat as one since last August; and now, finally, they have concluded to commence keeping house just like old folks. The honeymoon was quiet, and the marriage would have (had there been any royal or blue blood in their veins) been considered of the Morganatic variety—but it was not.

Plenty of Help Now.

A telephone message came rattling over the wires this morning to this office, in effect: "Why in — and blazes (our telephone works badly to-day) don't you take out that advertisement 'girl wanted?' We are just over-run with applicants, and my wife wants me to stay at home with a shot gun and keep them away."

Well, we'll take it out. It only run over one issue; but that shows that the EVENING TELEGRAPH is a daisy for advertising.

—Noah Brooks, well known to the residents of Dixon of thirty years ago, now editor of the Newark, (N. J.) Advertiser, and one of the distinguished literati of the East, has just recovered from a very successful operation for the removal of a cataract which had entirely obscured the sight of one eye and was affecting that of the other. His Dixon friends will learn with pleasure that his sight has been entirely restored.

—A good story is told of a prominent fun-loving democrat in this city which is too good to keep. During the Cleveland campaign while out driving he came across a young lad, poorly dressed, who seemed lost in thought as he stood by the roadside. Hastily stopping his horse, our friend said sternly, "See here! are you a democrat or a republican?" The boy hesitated for a moment then he faltered out, "N-no, I'm a Methodist." The gentleman was so taken by surprise that he sat there for a moment until he had recovered from the shock, when he drove away leaving the boy wondering why the gentleman should ask him such a question.

BAL MASQUE OF THE MOST UNUSUAL MAGNIFICENCE.

"To and Fro There Stalked a Multitude of Dreams, and These, the Dreams, Writhed in and About."

Two hundred or more young ladies and gentlemen responded to the invitation to attend in masque and enjoy the dance. The gallery was open to the public and was filled to the walls with spectators, who with pleased eyes watched the glare and glitter and piquancy and phantasm depicted on the floor below.

"There were delirious fancies such as the madman fashions."

There was something of the terrible, grotesque, picturesque and more that was beautiful. The red men of the forest with their squaws were there in all their glory as was also One Lung washee washee, the Roman gladiator with sword resembling a meat ax; a new arrival at Castle Garden; big policeman; Italian Count; Sambo was represented in various laughable costumes and the soldier boy who wanted to fight with Chili carried a chip on his shoulder. It was a cosmopolitan crowd and every body seemed bent on having fun.

The young men who managed the affair were careful to exclude all objectional women and but one such attempted to enter the ball room. The presence of Marshal Ball and policeman John Gaffney kept order in the halls and gallery.

As the masqueraders arrived tickets were purchased of W. C. Weldon at the box office and they were ushered by W. E. Dee into a private room presided over by John Maloney who required each to give their name and uncover their face. Then they were admitted to the ball room by Louie Kriner and George Coakley. Ed Whetstein managed the entrance to the gallery.

Art Williams in military costume and pretty Miss Anna Null dressed as a school girl, gracefully led in the figures of the grand march, after which the dance began with Will E. Dee, Charles Hatch and Louie Kriner as floor managers.

The hall was beautifully decorated with the national colors and evergreens, especially the stage where upon a raised platform prettily trimmed was placed Smith's orchestra, surrounded by handsome pictures and hot house plants.

In speaking of the costumes we hear special mention of those worn by Misses Julia Hoban, Kittie Depuy, Fannie Martin, Allie Hayes, Della Lumblot, Minnie Finkler; Messrs. Connie Thoman, Arthur Penney, Carl Backus, Burt Null, Harry Strong, Jack Peterschn, Tom Duffy, Joe Curran, Bert Fry.

Young men and women from the neighboring towns of Sterling, La Salle, DeKalb, Freeport, Nelson and Washington Grove were among the dancers.

It is estimated by the managers that after all expenses have been paid one hundred dollars will be left in the club treasury. We give a list of names of those who took part in the dance:

"Truth is Mighty and Will Prevail."

If all business men and newspaper reporters would remember this and act accordingly, what a world of trouble would be saved!

It can be truthfully said that Dixon is the nicest little city of 6,000 or 7,000 people in the State.—

That it has better streets than any city of its size in the State.

That it has larger and more substantial industrial plants, and a better feeling prevailing among its business men than any other city of its size anywhere.

That property is cheaper in Dixon than any city with such splendid prospects

The Finest Musicians are the Most enthusiastic Over The A. B. Chase Pianos.

The world renowned violinist Edouard Remenyi, writes to the A. B. Chase Co., the following enthusiastic tribute of appreciation of their wonderful pianos:

JACKSON, MICH., January 29th, '92.

A. B. Chase & Co., Piano Manufacturers, Norwalk, Ohio:

DEAR SIRS:—I gave last night a concert in the presence of 1,500 people (my 83d on the present tour, after ten years absence), and was especially pleased not only by the elegance, finish, magnificent workmanship, but above all by the superb tone and action of your Grand Upright.

I was delighted hearing my accompaniments to my beloved violin on such a fine piano. After my third or fourth piece I inquired after the maker's name, and to be sure it was an A. B. Chase. It does you great honor, and I am highly pleased to write to you these few lines of my artistic appreciation. I wish I had every night such an instrument at my disposal; and by the by, this reminds me, I will send you my route, and if you can do something for me, my violin and I, we both would be yours, very obliged and devoted, fiddle and I.

HIS BILL ADOPTED IN COMMITTEE

And Reported to the House—The Salient Features Thereof and What Its Author Says of Them—A Prediction That it Cannot Pass—Crisp and Reed Have a Little Verbal Set-to—Blaine Says the Report that He Is to Resign Is "an Infernal Lie"—Official Gleanings.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The house committee on coinage, weight and measures, yesterday disposed of the silver question so far as the committee is concerned by voting to report favorably the bill introduced by Bland, for the free coinage of gold and silver and for the issue of coin notes. The vote on the bill was 8 to 5. As soon as the committee was called to order the consideration of the Bland bill, as previously ordered, was begun. The bill was read section by section and discussed seriatim. There were numerous efforts to amend the bill, but all were defeated except one of no importance as to the issue involved in the bill. A substitute was also defeated which provided for an international conference.

The Vote in Committee.

After all the proposed amendments and substitutes had been disposed of Bartine moved that the bill be reported favorably to the house. Taylor moved to amend the motion so as to provide for an unfavorable report. Taylor's motion was defeated by a vote of 8 to 5 and Bartine's motion acceded to by the same vote. Those voting for the favorable report were: Bland, Kilgore, Pierce of Tennessee, McKeeghan of Nebraska, Williams of Illinois, Robertson of Louisian, Eps of Virginia, and Bartine of Nevada. Those against a favorable report were: Tracy of New York, Taylor of Illinois, Johnson of North Dakota, Williams, of Massachusetts, and Stone of Pennsylvania,

The Points in the Measure.

The bill converts all silver money, certificates and notes issued on bullion, and all gold certificates, into coin notes redeemable in "coin," thus converting our paper into bi-metal paper instead of keeping up the distinction between gold and silver in our paper issues. The unit of value is made the silver dollar as now coined, consisting of 412½ grains standard silver, or the gold dollar of 25 8-10 grains standard gold; but so soon as France shall open her mints to free coinage of silver at her present ratio, the silver dollar of the United States shall consist of 400 grains of standard silver, and the 412½ grain dollars then in the treasury or coming in shall, as fast as they come in, be recoined into 400 grain dollars.

The Free Coinage Feature.

Any one having possession of gold or silver bullion of the value of $100 can take it to the mint and have it coined free of charge, or deposit it and receive therefor coin notes equal in amount to the "coin" value of the bullion. All the money—coin and paper—is made legal tender for all debts, public and private. This makes the notes or silver dollars legal tenders in payment of United States bonds. The notes authorized by the law of 1890 are to be retired as fast as they come in, and the new "coin" notes are to be issued to the same amount as those retired. The amount of "coin" notes outstanding is to be at no time greater than the "coin" value of the bullion in the treasury.

BLAND EXPLAINS HIS BILL.

Government to Decide in What to Redeem the Notes—The French Clause.

In presenting this bill to the house Bland said that the coin notes "are redeemable in coin, of course in whatever coin it may be most convenient for the government to redeem them in. The depositors of gold and silver bullion have the privilege of waiting until their bullion is coined and having the coin returned to them, or they may deposit the bullion and receive notes at the coin value of the bullion deposited. The bullion then becomes the property of the government and is coined as fast as may be necessary for the redemption of any notes presented for redemption. It obviates the expense of coining all the bullion at the time it is deposited.

No Distinction in the Notes.

"The people seem to be desirous of using paper money instead of the coin itself—to prefer paper to coin—and for that reason coin notes may be issued and bullion held for coinage, to be coined only when necessary for the redemption of notes. A man holding a coin note will not know whether it is a gold note or a silver note, for if he deposits gold bullion or gold coin he gets a coin note, and if he deposits silver bullion or silver coin he gets the same kind of a coin note. It abolishes the present distinction between our coin notes.

Reason for the French Section.

"My bill also differs from any other bill that has been introduced in providing that when France may resume the free and unlimited coinage of silver at her present ratio of 15½ to 1, and the president makes a proclamation to that effect, that ratio shall then become our legal ratio and our coin shall conform to it. It is claimed that France will not resume free coinage now because the difference between our ratio of 16 to 1 would cause all silver to go to the French mint, which would be embarrassing probably to France to some extent and very much so to ourselves.

A Concession to Other People.

"We wish to retain our silver money as well as our gold coin hence there is a very good reason why our ratio and that of European countries should be the same. At any rate there can be no pretext on the part of France for longer refusing to coin silver free because our ratio is different from hers. Personally I care but little, but there are a good many people who think we ought to have a common ratio, and I have no objections to it, and consequently am willing to conform to the public sentiment."

Says It Can Never Pass.

"No free silver bill will pass the house at this session of congress. The Democratic party is not going to surrender the presidency for a free silver bill." This remark was made by a Democratic leader who is in a position to know not only what is going on, but to control party forces. The remark was elicited by the report to the house by Bland of his free coinage bill, and by the statements of the free silver leaders that they were going to pass the bill within three weeks.

Congressional Proceedings Briefed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—A bill introduced in the senate yesterday increases the pensions of those troubled with deafness. A bill was passed providing for the appointment without pay of three commissioners to represent the United States at the Exposition of 1892 at Madrid. The Manderson printing bill was discussed, and it was stated that an ex-member of congress (Ewart of North Carolina) had sold 800 copies of the agricultural report to a "junk shop" for 5 cents a copy. After an executive session the senate adjourned.

The house passed a bill authorizing a bridge at Burlington, Ia. Bland reported his free coinage bill and asked that it be placed on the calendar, but Dingley raised the point that as it involved expenditure it must go to committee of the whole; the speaker reserved his decision. A bill requiring a proposition in writing to the board of directors of any national bank before any official thereof can borrow money was debated without action, and the remainder of the day was devoted to the West Point appropriation, also without action. A resolution to investigate the pension office was adopted.

THE SPEAKER AND EX-SPEAKER.

Crisp and Reed Have a Little Debate of Their Own.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—While the house was debating a bill to require bank officials to apply in writing to the directors when they wanted to borrow money, yesterday, the morning hour expired just as a demand for the previous question had been made, a point of no quorum being made against the demand. A colloquy then ensued between the speaker and Reed, the latter contending that no business could be transacted until a quorum appeared. The speaker held that the morning hour having expired, all business went over until today, whether a quorum was voting or not.

Did Reed "Dodge the Question?"

Reed maintained that the speaker had declared bills passed when a quorum had not voted, and his position was therefore not consistent. The speaker retorted that the question of no quorum was not raised, and added: "With the greatest respect to the gentleman from Maine I would say that he is acting now as he did last congress—he is dodging the question." Reed replied that he thought the complaint against him was because he had not dodged any question last year.

The "Billion Dollar" Congress.

In committee the house then ostensibly went to work on the West Point appropriation, but the time was largely taken up in political discussion. Sayers of Texas delivered a philippic on the "billion dollar" congress, declaring that the increase in appropriations of that congress over the previous one was over $247,500,000, but after taking out the pension and postal appropriations and that for national bank redemption he reduced his figures to $72,134,755.

Watson Deplores an Increase.

Watson, Alliance, of Georgia deplored the fact that the West Point bill gave that institution $64,000 increase and said our military establishment cost us $200,000,000 a year, and then Compton of Maryland made a political speech under cover of the economy proposed by the Democrats, attacking the "billion dollar" congress and the frightful perversion of home rule as exercised by the late czar of the house—"one unbroken Reed of Maine."

"CRITTERS" BY THE MILLION.

The Number of Horses, Mules and Other Stock in This Country.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The annual estimates of farm animals in the United States, consolidated from local returns of January to the department of agriculture, indicate an increase of each kind, three to four per cent of sheep, swine and horses, about two per cent in cattle, and scarcely one per cent in mules. Estimated numbers are: Horses, 15,478,000; mules, 2,314,000; cows, 16,416,000; other cattle, 37,651,000; sheep, 44,938,000; swine, 52,398,000.

Valued at Two-and-a-Half Billions.

A slight increase in value appears in store cattle and beeves, sheep and swine; a decline of 1 per cent. in the price of cows, 2 per cent. in horses, and 3 in mules. Average values are: Horses, $65.05; mules, $75.55; milch cows, $21.40; other cattle, $15.16. sheep, $2.58; swine, $4.60. The values of all aggregate $2,460,955,675.

IT IS VERY OFTEN THUS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Secretary Blaine had a conference with the president yesterday morning in regard to trade relations with Canada. As he was leaving the White House a representative of the press showed him the published statement that he was about to retire from the cabinet. He read it slowly, and then said with deliberation: "It is entirely false. There is not a word of truth in it. These stories are being circulated by idle persons who have nothing better to do, and I ask you to deny them in the most positive terms. The statement is an infernal lie."

Decided Against the Railways.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The interstate commerce commission yesterday announced its decision of the cases of Murphy, Wasey & Co. against the Wabash Railroad company, the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad company, and others in favor of complainants, who ship chair stuff and bed and mattress material in mixed carloads from their factory in Detroit to their other factory in Omaha, and on the chair stuff, for example, are charged as much per hundred weight under the western classification for the transportation from Chicago or Mississippi river points—as the route may be—as for the more bulky finished article.

Hearing on the Anti-Option Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Before the house committee on agriculture yesterday Mr. Forbes, of Duluth, spoke against the anti-option bill, using pretty much the same arguments as others who have been reported in these dispatches. Mr. Howard, of St. Louis, declared that futures were the bane of the grain and provision trade, and that Chicago dealers were a great national ring of gamblers, which would produce a revolution. It was the same way with cotten—futures had reduced the price to 7 cents. This statement was denied by Mr. Laboisse, of New Orleans, and Howard said he would prove it.

Two Years for Killing a Wife!

TAUNTON, Mass., Feb. 11.—In the superior court Michael O'Connor, of Fall River, was sentenced to two years in the house of correction for manslaughter in killing his wife, Bridget E. O'Connor. He was convicted chiefly on the testimony of his daughter, a child of 13 years. She said her mother refused to go for beer and her father knocked her down and kicked her in the breast. The woman was drunk at the time of the quarrel as well as the husband.

NAVAJOS PUT ON THEIR WAR PAINT

While the Cow-Punchers Oil Up Their Winchesters and Grind Their Knives—A Fight Reported in the Timber that Has Already Resulted in Some Bloodshed—Women at the Seat of War Preparing to Leave—Origin of the Difficulty—Lot Jumpers at Elreno.

DENVER, Colo., Feb. 11.—A special to the Republican from Albuquerque says: J. M. Dennis, the sawmill owner at Coolidge, who is here, received Tuesday night a dispatch from his manager, A. E. Batcheldor, that Navajo Indians were congregating in squads of from twenty-five to fifty at the small towns on the Atlantic and Pacific between Lagune and Coolidge with the intention of cleaning out the cowboys on the cattle ranges along the road.

Cowboys Getting Ready for a Fight.

At Chave's station seventy-five Indians are holding a pow-wow, have on their war paint and are heavily armed. The people are in great excitement. The women have their trunks packed ready to leave, while the cowboys are gathering all the arms they can get, and propose to stand their ground. Mrs. C. Jenkins, wife of the manager of the eating house at Coolidge, with her two children, are the first to reach this city.

Defiance to the Redskins.

She tells your correspondent that the Indians and cowboys are massing their forces for an engagement and that the whole white male population of Coolidge and vicinity were up in arms and ready for the conflict. Monday a number of cowboys from several of the ranges assembled at Coolidge and defied the Indians then in the town to commence carrying their threats into execution.

Fighting Begun at a Ranch.

The Indians left on horses, and went in the direction of Goddington's ranch. An hour later a runner came into Coolidge and reported that an engagement was in progress at the ranch between the Indians and cowboys there, and that if the latter were not soon reinforced the Indians would annihilate them. Those in Coolidge then left to join their associates, but the actual result of the fight has not yet been received.

Popping Away from Behind Trees.

There is a rumor in circulation here that the fight at Goddington's is still going on, and each side is in the timber shooting from behind trees. The Indians were noticed carrying the dead off. During the present winter the cattle men whose ranges border the Navajo reservation have lost a number of cattle, stolen and killed, and the cowboys have traced the depredations to the Navajo Indians.

Beginning of the Trouble.

The owners of the stock have called on the chiefs for some kind of a settlement, but their demands were met with refusals. Both sides since then have been bantering each other for a fight, and the cowboys finally destroyed one of the Indian houses. The Indians retaliated by burning the outhouses on a ranch a few miles from Coolidge, and the present affair is the outcome of the bad feeling which has existed all winter.

BOUNCING THE CLAIM JUMPERS.

A Better State of Affairs at Elreno—Titles to Be Made Good.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Feb. 11.—The excitement has abated some at Elreno. A dispatch from Secretary Noble states that a review has been granted in Foreman's case, and until that is had he really has title. The United States deputy marshals yesterday began ejecting all lot jumpers, and troops will be on hand if needed. Secretary Noble also states that if Foreman's title is finally cancelled congress will act, legislating the titles of all parties who have bought of him.

THE WORST IS NOW KNOWN.

Seventeen Persons Lost Their Lives at the Hotel Royal Fire.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The worst in regard to the Hotel Royal fire is now believed to be known. Seventeen persons in all, eleven women and six men, is the sum total of the dead. Of these, seven have been positively identified and two others partially so. It is expected that the identity of these two persons will be known by today at the latest. At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon Contractor Galligan withdrew his men from the ruins. He said that every inch of the debris had been overhauled, and that no more bodies were in the ruins.

The Missing Will Remain Missing.

The list of missing is still very large, but all of these have undoubtedly escaped. About a score of missing persons reported themselves as safe yesterday, and many others are likely to do so, but a goodly portion, it is thought, will forever remain missing. An inquiry from Boston was received yesterday, sending a photograph of a handsome young woman named Page, which looks very like one of those at the morgue, and it is thought that another body is that of Kitty Reilly, a chambermaid.

Gas Explosion at a Fire.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 11.—Fire broke out in the large six-story block, corner of Gay and High streets, yesterday and damaged it to the extent of about $100,000. Two or three gas explosions occurred shortly after the fire was discovered, blowing Jack Dundon and Mike Martin, two firemen, out of the cellar. Dundon is seriously injured; Martin slightly. Dora Blair, of Portsmouth, O., while being taken from the second story on a ladder, slipped and fell to the ground, alighting on her head and shoulder. Her skull was fractured and back hurt. She will probably die.

Her Life Was a Failure.

MEXICO, Mo., Feb. 11.—Alice Howlett, a student at the Harlem college here, committed suicide by taking laudanum. She left a letter to her mother saying that her life was a failure. Miss Howlett's home was at Charleston, and it is said that her parents sent her to the college here to separate her from a young man whom they regarded as an undesirable match.

The Blaine Divorce Case.

DEADWOOD, S. D., Feb. 11.—The February term of the circuit court began Tuesday and promises to be of more than usual interest, since the Blaine divorce is to be tried. Depositions on the part of Mrs. Blaine were filed on Monday, but their contents will remain unknown until the trial, which will probably begin next week.

EULOGIES TO SPURGEON.

A Solemn Memorial Service to the Great Preacher.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—The coffin containing the remains of the Rev. C. H. Spurgeon, covered with floral tributes, rested yesterday in the center of the Metropolitan Tabernacle. Upon the top of the flowers was placed an open Bible, the same book so often read by the dead man within that sacred building. The religious services commenced at 11 o'clock. The building was packed with people of all classes and conditions. The services consisted of music and orations.

The Dead Man's Last Message.

During the services Secretary Harrold read the dead minister's last message to his brethren "Love to all Friends." The speakers were Rev. Dr. Angus, Rev. Dr. Pierson, Canon Fleming (of the Established church) and others, and they were all eloquent and highly eulogistic of the great Baptist. The services continued from 11 a. m. until late in the afternoon.

THE UNITED MINE WORKERS.

A Resolution Aimed at McBride Tabled —Remarks on Strikes.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 11.—In the meeting of the United Mine workers yesterday there was an exciting discussion of a resolution reported from the resolution committee forbidding any national officer of the organization accepting any public office. This was aimed directly at John McBride, of Ohio, who was a candidate for the presidency of the organization and now holds the office of commissioner of labor of Ohio. It was tabled by a large majority. A resolution declaring it necessary to place four or five organizers in Illinois to retrieve the organization's losses due to the late miners' troubles was adopted.

The convention then proceeded to election of officers. John McBride, of Ohio, was unanimously elected president, and P. H. Penna vice president (by acclamation). For the office of secretary-treasurer there was a sharp contest between W. B. Wilson, of Pennsylvania, and the present incumbent, Patrick McBride. The latter was elected by a vote of 157 to 42.

President McBride, who is a Democrat, and will tender his resignation as state labor commissioner to Governor McKinley at once, made an address.

The Control of Strikes.

He vigorously denounced the plan of organization under which the miners were now living, that allowed such ill-advised and needless strikes to occur, and compelled the national body to recognize and support them, as were experienced in the last year. Such strikes, he said, were simply disastrous. He favored amendment to the constitution, taking from local organizations the right to strike without the approval and consent of the national executive body.

WAS A CASE OF MANIPULATION.

The Great Scare on the Chicago Board of Trade Tuesday.

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Contrary to expectations there was no recurrence of Tuesday's flurry on the Board of Trade yesterday morning. In anticipation of possible excitement the spectators' gallery was packed, and for some time before the opening hour the operators gathered in groups and commented upon the scare. There was a general consensus of opinion that the miniature panic had nothing behind to warrant it save the manipulation of certain operators who wanted to get under cover, and were willing to avail themselves of a rumor that the Hatch option bill was likely to pass as a means to that end.

A Restoration of Confidence.

There was on the whole a feeling of confidence and this was manifested when the gong sounded and there was a rush for the pits. Wheat which sold during the scare at 87¾ opened at 88⅛ with heavy trading, while corn went from 41⅛ to 42⅜, with oats and the provision market in sympathy. Then the offerings dropped off and the market gave every indication of beginning still firmer and stable with every indication that the flurry would not repeat itself.

Fatal Mishap to a Chicago Pioneer.

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—James Couch, owner of the Tremont house and one of Chicago's oldest settlers, met with an accident yesterday that will probably cause his death. While trying to board a street car he fell. A heavy truck wagon was close behind Mr. Couch and before the horses could be stopped the wagon had passed over the the old gentleman, crushing the left leg and cutting off the fingers of the right hand. Mr. Couch is 91 years of age, and has been a leading citizen of Chicago since 1836.

LATER.—Mr. Couch died at 6:30 o'clock last evening.

Retail Dealers Down on Trusts.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 11.—The Association of Retail Implement Dealers closed their annual convention Tuesday. Among the resolutions offered and adopted were the following: That congress be memorialized to legislate against all trusts and combinations formed for the control of trade, and that congress be asked to abolish the tariff on twine. The resolution in relation to the National Cordage company was particularly severe. It declares that company to be the most gigantic monopoly in America, controlling the output of every twine and cordage factory in the country, and dictating prices to the retail dealers.

The Iowa Legislature.

DES MOINES, Feb. 11.—The senate yesterday adopted the resolution asking the speaker of the house to consult the attorney general on the question of the status of the senate secretary, Parsons. The speaker refuses to recognize Parson's official authority. The house discussed the bill to protect makers of negotiable notes from fraud by unscrupulous agents. A bill was introduced appropriating money for the starving Russians.

ARGUED THE CASE.

Talking Done Over the Wisconsin Gerrymander.

SPOONER AND BRAGG THE ORATORS

The Latter Confines Himself to Disputing the Jurisdiction of the Court—Extracts from Spooner's Remarks—A Decision Looked for the 23rd Inst.—Ohio Democrats Attack Sherman's Title — Tammany's Host at Chicago—Miscellaneous Political News.

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 11.—Arguments in the Wisconsin gerrymander case were completed yesterday by ex-Senator J. C. Spooner, and General E. S. Bragg. The court took the case under advisement and adjourned till Feb. 23, when a decision is expected that will settle the question of jurisdiction and of the constitutionality of the apportionment. If the Democratic law is declared invalid the Democrats will bring suit to nullify the last Republican apportionment on the same grounds.

The Argument Spooner Made.

In the course of his argument ex-Senator Spooner said that there is nothing in the character of the office held by the secretary of state or in the duties the performance of which the court is enjoined which puts him beyond the reach of injunction. He declared that this injunction, if granted, would not restrain an election nor the giving and filing of notices of election of members of senate and assembly. It will only restrain the giving of notices describing the districts attempted to be created by the act of last winter. If granted notices could be given under valid unrepealed laws or under a new law, should one be enacted.

Not a Political Power.

"There is no more sense," said Spooner, "in calling the power of making an apportionment a political power because it affects quite directly political rights than it would be in saying that an act of the legislature providing for a system of common schools is an educational power, or that the act providing for the protection of the religious rights and liberties of the people is a religious power, or that the act providing for the militia is a military power. If the contention of the counsel for the defense is right the legislature could violate any of the limitations respecting the apportionment, and the people have no remedy."

Argued Against Jurisdiction.

General Bragg concluded his argument late in the afternoon. All his remarks following Spooner were devoted to showing the court that it lacked jurisdiction to take cognizance of the case. He cited cases in Alabama, Rhode Island, Maine, and Massachusetts where substantially the same question is involved as here, and stated that in each instance the court had refused to assume jurisdiction, and in the case from Massachusetts he announced that the federal supreme court had affirmed the ruling of the lower court.

Some Illinois Politics.

MASCOUTAH, Ills., Feb. 11.—The indications are that the Democratic nomination for state treasurer will go to southern Illinois. Rufus N. Ramsey, of Clinton county, and Edward C. Pace, of Washington county, are the leading aspirants. Judge Altgeld, of Chicago, is developing considerable strength in this section as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor. In the Eighteenth district there will be a lively contest for the Democratic nomination for congress. The leading aspirants for the Democratic nomination are Congressmen William S. Forman, of Washington county, and J. N. Perrin, of St. Clair county. The Republican nomination will probably go to John Baker.

The Fight Against Sherman.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 11. — Representative Harshbarger, of Shelby, yesterday introduced a resolution calling upon Senator Brice to cause inquiry to be made in the United States senate as to the legality of Senator Sherman's election. It is almost an exact copy of the resolution referring to Senator Brice's eligibility recently adopted by the Republicans in the house. Senator Sherman's new commission was signed by Governor McKinley at noon.

Campbell To Be a Delegate.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 11.—Colonel James E. Neal, of Hamilton, late Democratic state executive chairman; Colonel A. C. Carlisle, of Salem, and other prominent Democrats met with ex-Governor Campbell here yesterday. It is rumored that the meeting had for its object the arrangement of plans to send ex-Governor Campbell as one of Ohio's delegates-at-large to Chicago, and to secure the whole delegation for Cleveland if possible.

Starting a McKinley Boom.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 11.—There was a meeting of prominent Ohio Republicans known to be opposed to the renomination of Harrison here Tuesday night to start a McKinley boom. Those at the meeting were ex-Mayor Amos Smith and Samuel Bailey, of Cincinnati; Mark Hanna, of Cleveland; George P. Waldorf, of Toledo; Secretary of State Ryan, and S. M. Taylor, chairman of the house committee on ways and means.

The Theory of Gov. Boyd.

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 11.—Governor Boyd is acting on the theory that he has been governor all the time, and has instructed all his old appointees to resume their duties in the several departments of the state. In most cases this has been done. It is probable that bills for their services for the time when they were dispossessed will be presented to the next legislature.

Tammany Will Be at Chicago in Force.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11—Two thousand Tammany braves will go to the Chicago convention. They will travel in three special trains of twelve sleeping cars each. The headquarters of the delegation in Chicago will be at the Leland hotel, where rooms for 500 persons have been engaged. All the prominent leaders of Tammany will be in the delegation.

Bronchitis.

A great many cases of bronchitis come solely from neglected colds. The throat is irritated and a cough sets in. The sufferer "thinks it will wear off after a while," and pays little attention to it until it finally develops into chronic inflammation and ends in Bronchitis. Nothing is so dangerous as a neglected cold. The moment you have a cold take Reid's German Cough and Kidney Cure and heal the malady at once. This great remedy contains no opium or any narcotic. It is composed of pure materials and there is not the slightest danger of an over-dose. This makes it invaluable for children and aged people, and for people with weak lungs, because they can take it in any quantity without any ill effects, but with positive benefit. For singers and actors and people troubled with hoarseness, it is invaluable. For sale by all druggists.

HOW HE CURES CATARRH.

Interview with Mrs. A. W. Ausenbaum, of Grant Park, Ill.

The majority of people do not realize the danger of catarrh, and it is only when the catarrh has extended to the ear or to the bronchial tubes and the lungs that they begin to treat it. Catarrh is the cause of 90 per cent of deafness, and this loss of hearing might be avoided if the catarrh had been treated in time. Even when there is complete loss of hearing frequently it can be restored if too much damage has not already been done by the catarrhal inflammation.

Mrs. A. W. Ausenbaum is one of Dr. Berry's patients, who resides at Grant Park, Ill., and is very much pleased to have a report of her case published as an example to others.

MRS. A. W. AUSENBAUM.

"For twenty years," said Mrs. Ausenbaum, "I suffered from catarrh, but as it gave rise to no serious troubles I did not make any great efforts to have it cured. A number of physicians had treated me, but as none of them seemed to be able to do me any good I had finally decided that my catarrh was incurable.

"Six or eight months ago, however, I began to suffer from excruciating pain in my left ear. Finally it broke and discharged matter and the pain was relieved. This happened a number of times—great pain, then a breaking and discharge. When I could stand it no longer and all other doctors in my neighborhood having failed to cure me I went to see Dr. Berry. As I suspected, he told me the whole trouble was my old catarrh, which had extended to the ear. He promised to cure me and I at once began treatment. In one month the ear was practically cured, although there still remained a little buzzing occasionally and a feeling of fullness. I remained under his treatment three months, when he pronounced me cured, but, on account of the long-standing catarrh, advised me once in a while to make a few applications to my nose and throat. This I do, of course, as I wouldn't for the world be in the condition again that I was in when Dr. Berry began to treat me.

"The doctor has a great reputation in Chicago, I know, and he is rapidly extending it all over the country. There is scarcely a man, woman, or child in my town who has not heard of Dr. Berry, and they all feel as I do, that when it is possible to cure he succeeds in curing."

HOW HE CURES SKIN DISEASES.

Interview with Mr. M. C. Murphy, of Summit, Ill.

One of the most distressing of all skin diseases is that called eczema. It is almost always accompanied by intense itching, and when the sufferer is a delicate, nervous woman she is driven almost insane by the constant desire to scratch. Mr. M. C. Murphy lives at Summit, Cook County, Illinois, and, as every one knows, Summit is one of our prettiest suburbs. For sixteen years he had an eczema of the face and body, but it will be best to let him tell his story in his own words.

MR. M. C. MURPHY.

"Yes," said Mr. Murphy, "I had an eczema of the face for sixteen years, and during all that time, although I tried a number of remedies and dozens of doctors, I was never cured. Once in a while some doctor would succeed in relieving me a little, but I was never free from the disease from the time it began until now. It began with an eruption on my upper lip, rapidly extended to my face, and finally to my body and legs also. It was red and scaly, itchy, and at times there was the most distressing itchy, crawling sensation, so that I was simply compelled to scratch.

"I had almost given up all hopes of a cure, but when I heard so much of Dr. Berry's success I determined to try him. In only one week I had derived so much benefit from the use of his medicines that I felt confident that at last I should be cured. And I was not mistaken, either. In one month there was only a slight redness left where the old scaly eruption used to be, and in two months that had also disappeared. I continued the treatment one month longer and then the doctor told me I was well, cured for good of a skin disease that had baffled physicians for sixteen years.

"Since that day, six weeks ago now, I have remained without a sign of my old enemy, and I feel confident that I shall never be troubled again. Dr. Berry has certainly demonstrated his ability in my case to cure skin diseases, and I shall always be pleased and gratified to recommend all sufferers to go to him."

Catarrh, Skin and Nervous Diseases, including treatment and cure of Pimples, Freckles, Blotches, Salt Rheum, Eczema, Superfluous Hair, Tumors, Scrofula and all Skin Diseases; Diseases of the Ear, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Consumption, and all Diseases of the Nose, Throat and Lungs; Loss of Strength and Vitality, Backaches, Headaches, Weaknesses of Different Organs, Neuralgia, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Diseases of Women and all Diseases of the Nervous System.

HOW HE CURES NERVOUS DISEASES.

There are doctors and doctors. Some cure their patients and give them quid pro quo for their money—others don't. Miss Kate Casey is a young lady who resides at 257 Forquer Street, Chicago, and whose life for four long years was one continual agony. During that time she had been treated by numerous doctors, some of whom called her disease one thing, some another. Finally she found a doctor who knew what it was, and, better than that, knew how to cure it. That doctor was Dr. Berry.

MISS KATE CASEY.

"I scarcely know how to begin to tell you what I have suffered," said Miss Casey. "Any one who has been in constant pain for four years can understand what it was, but those who have only occasional neuralgic attacks can't comprehend what four years of pain means. At times the pains would increase so in severity that I would roll around the bed or on the floor in my agony, and it would have been a mercy to me to have killed me.

"I had pains all through my body, but the worst was nestled in the stomach, and for the last year and a half it has so weakened that organ that I lost all appetite and what little I did eat I could not keep down. I would vomit it almost immediately. I was worn to a skeleton, weighed only 100 pounds and was steadily losing.

FELT SHE WOULD DIE.

"I knew if it went on much longer that there were no hopes for me, and I had almost made up my mind for the worst when a little hope was again kindled by a notice I one day saw in the papers of Dr. Berry and a wonderful cure of neuralgia he had made. I went to see him, told him of my suffering and how despondent I was. Dr. Berry told me that was foolish, that as long as there was life there was hope, and that he for one 'never gave up the ship.'

CURED AT LAST.

"But, best of all, he told me he was very positive he could cure me, and although I did not more than half believe him then, still his confidence was encouraging and the hope he inspired me with helped me to bear up until his treatment began to take effect.

"It was not more than two weeks before I felt that the pains were growing easier and in two months they had completely ceased. If I had stopped then I suppose they would have come back again. I kept up the treatment by Dr. Berry's advice two months more, and then I felt so well and had not had pain for so long that both the doctor and I thought it perfectly safe to stop all medicines.

"Since that time I have remained in the best of health, and whereas I weighed only 100 pounds when I began Dr. Berry's treatment I now weigh 140. Words sound so cold and formal when I try to express how I feel toward the doctor. He is the best man, the most skilful physician and the kindest of kind friends to his patients. What the poor owe to him none but the poor know. What he has accomplished for the rich and poor alike all Chicago knows and it is a glorious record."

MR. SOL. SLIMMER, of 3955 Dearborn street, Chicago, says: "I suffered for eight years with a most distressing form of nervous disease, with neuralgia of the kidneys and bladder, and was completely broken down in health when I went to Dr. Berry. It suffices to say that the doctor cured me rapidly, and I am now in perfect health."

THE HISTORY OF A REMARKABLY SUCCESSFUL MAN.

How Push and Enterprise, Combined with Talent, brings Glory and Honor—A Lesson to the Youth of To-Day.

Dr. Charles H. Berry is a native of Putnam county, New York, and is now about forty-five years of age. From boyhood he gave indication of the great success he was hereafter to achieve, as he devoted much of the spare time his studies and work to constant experiments in chemistry and biology, and before he was fifteen years old had been dubbed by his playmates "the doctor." Graduating with honor from the schools in his native place, he entered upon the study of medicine with enthusiasm, received his degree, took a prolonged hospital course, and settled down to practice.

He rapidly built up a practice that any physician might be proud of, but feeling that he needed a wider field for his talents he decided to give it up, travel for a few years and then settle in Chicago, a most fortunate decision for the Northwest. Ten years ago he located in Chicago, and in three years had made himself better known and more respected and honored than the oldest physician in the city.

Dr. Berry's methods of treatment are peculiarly his own. His taste for experiment has remained with him, and his chemical laboratory is one of the sights of Chicago, to those interested in these subjects. During his professional career he has devoted himself exclusively to the treatment of chronic diseases, making a specialty particularly of Catarrh, Throat and Lung Diseases, Skin Diseases, and Diseases of the Nervous System. He has felt that in this way greater success was to be achieved and more glory than if he frittered away his time and talents trying to cure everything. That he was right the result has proved. To one unacquainted with his practice it seems incredible the number of invalids that he treats, but three or four hundred patients a day at his office in Chicago is by no means unusual.

The doctor's manner is that of the old school physician, the one we have heard our fathers talk about, and his sympathy is so great that it has become a proverb in Chicago. His patients are one and all his friends. They feel that it is not their money that he cares them for, but that principally and above all it is his object to restore them to health. The doctor's offices are located at 103 State street, on the corner of Washington, and it is well worth any stranger's time when in Chicago to visit them. He occupies a whole floor in this enormous office building, and has special rooms especially fitted up for giving his various treatments. There will be found his electric rooms with the many batteries for administering this vital fluid, his dark rooms for administering the "gold" treatment, of which so much has been written, and of the success of which too much cannot be said; the catarrh rooms, the skin disease rooms, the gynaecological rooms and so on one after the other, and over all presides Dr. Berry, directing the treatment and prescribing the remedies, entering into every detail himself and looking after every patient personally.

But enough about the doctor. Now something about his patients. The class of diseases of which Dr. Berry makes a specialty are all chronic diseases, namely diseases which have gotten a strong hold on the patient, and are difficult to cure. His specialty is catarrh, skin and nervous diseases, including treatment and cure of Pimples, Freckles, Blotches, Salt Rheum, Eczema, Superfluous Hair, Tumors, Scrofula and all Skin Diseases; Diseases of the Ear, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Consumption and all Diseases of the Nose, Throat and Lungs; Loss of Strength and Vitality, Backaches, Headaches, Weakness of Different Organs, Neuralgia, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Diseases of Women, and all Diseases of the Nervous System.

THAT SCHOOL QUESTION.

Consolidation Discussed Last Night Fully—The Court House Well Crowded

A large audience was present at the Court House last evening to hear the discussion relative to the consolidation of our High schools. Judge Farrand was chosen chairman, and after explaining the object of the meeting, called on Prof. Hartwell who made a telling speech in support of his theory. Prof. Smith was then called on and presented the question from his standpoint, which seemed to be that the schools were doing good enough work as they are, and that graduates from the High school here could go to college without any special examination. A. C. Warner followed with a presentation of the case from a business standpoint. After he had finished S. H. Bethea was called for, and that gentleman in responding made a powerful speech in favor of consolidation. He denied in toto the statement of Prof. Smith in regard to the graduates going from here to college and mentioned states whose High schools could graduate pupils into the colleges on the certificate of the principal, but it could not be done in Dixon. Major Downing was called on and spoke feelingly on the subject from his standpoint as a father. His remarks were witty and to the point, and as an expression of opinion against consolidation were a success. Hon. Sherwood Dixon followed with an able address in favor of one high school and brought out many good arguments in favor of the change.

Rev. J. M. Ruthrauff then spoke briefly in favor of consolidation, pointing out the benefit to be derived from it.

The last speaker was Prof Williamson, whose eloquent address will never be forgotten by those who heard it. He made a powerful plea for consolidation and spoke without fear, for as he said, he was perfectly independent, and it made no difference to him what the people thought of him, he was talking for the good of the public schools of Dixon. He scored the people on their treatment of their daughters in allowing them to run up and down so many flights of stairs in going to and from the High school rooms on both the North and South sides; it was ruining their health, and would continue to do so as long as they kept their High school room on the top floor of a three story building. He was in favor of having a High school with specialists for teachers, not force a teacher to instruct classes in almost every branch of school work. Good work could not be done in such cases, and instead of its being economy it was the reverse. Specialists, though they may demand more salary, would do enough better work to more than make up the difference. He spoke feelingly on the subject of the South side High school and complained of a lack of room to do good work. The High school room is used to a certain extent for pupils of a lower grade which hampers the teachers and forces them to give less time than they ought to their regular work. He answered Prof. Smith by saying that there was no first class college in the country that would accept Dixon High school graduates without an examination; there might be a few so called colleges but not first class ones. He dwelt at length on the necessity of the better grading of the schools, and stated that Mr. Bethea struck the keynote when he said that we wanted a High school here that would graduate pupils that were fitted to enter business life or a first class college on the simple certificate of the principal; but it could not be done as long as we retain our present system. In closing he thanked the audience for their kind attention and said that what he had said came from his heart, and was so said because he desired to see the Dixon schools at the head, for he liked this city and took as great an interest in its success as any old settler possibly could.

Major Downing then thanked the Professor for his remarks and said he hoped the gentlemen on the South side would profit by them.

Sherwood Dixon then moved to adjourn and the great mass meeting was over, but enough was said to set the people thinking, and it will bear fruit sooner or later.

DISCIPLINE.

My life is full of scented fruits;
My garden blooms with stocks and cloves:
Yet o'er the wall my fancy shoots
And hankers after harsher loves.

Ah! why—my foolish heart repines—
Was I not housed within a waste?
These velvet flowers and sirup wines
Are sweet, but are not to my taste.

A howling moor, a wattled hut,
A piercing smoke of sodden peat,
The savor of a russet nut,
Would make my weary pulses beat.

Oh, stupid brain that blindly swerves!
Oh, heart that strives not, nor endures!
Since flowers are hardships to your nerves,
Thank heaven a garden lot is yours!

How Crassus Acquired His Wealth.

One of the strangest businesses in ancient Rome is mentioned by Juvenal in his Satires. It consisted of buying houses on fire. The speculator hurried to the scene, attended by slaves carrying bags of money and others carrying tools, judged the chances of salvage and made a bid to the distracted house owner, who was glad to accept anything as a rule. The bargain struck in all haste, this earliest of fire assurers set his slaves to work and secured what he could. Sometimes even he put out the flames and so made a coup.

It was a business for capitalists, but the poorest who speculated in a small way could hardly lose if he had presence of mind enough to grasp the chances. Thus Cato the Elder, and above all, Crassus, laid the foundations of their great wealth. He gradually collected a force of carpenters, masons and such artificers—slaves of course—which reached 500 men. Not only did he buy houses on fire, but also, enlarging upon the common practice, he made a bid for those adjoining which stood in danger. His proposals were commonly welcome, we learn, so helpless were the people and so great the peril. By this means Crassus became the greatest owner of house property in Rome.—Chicago Standard.

Sex of Gems.

The Romans, following the Greek mineralogists, divided gems into males and females, according to the depth or lightness of their color. These terms are thus alluded to by Theophrastus: "Both these (beryl, carbuncle, omphax, crystal and amethyst) and the sard are found on breaking open certain rocks, presenting certain differences, but agreeing in name with each other. For of the the sard the transparent and blood red sort is called the female, while the less transparent and darker kind is termed the male, and the cyanus also is named one sort the male and the other the female, but the male is the deeper in color of the two." The cyanus, or cyanos, of the ancients is said, though probably incorrectly, by many modern mineralogists to be identical with our sapphire.—Cor. Notes and Queries.

The Giant Spider of Ceylon.

Far up in the mountains of Ceylon there is a gigantic spider which spins a bright yellow web, each thread being almost as large and strong as the "buttonhole twist" or embroidery floss sold at a penny a spool at the stores. The net which this creature forms from these webs is often five to eight feet across. This net is swung on mainstays or guys, which are from ten to twenty feet in length and strong enough to call the pedestrian to a halt as suddenly as if he had encountered a low hanging clothesline. These yellow webs are collected by the natives, as well as by Dutch and English residents, and woven into pretty mats, screens, etc. —St. Louis Republic.

Little Known About Siam.

Siam has been until lately a terra incognita, a country whose only product so far as was known to Americans and Englishmen was the famous Siamese twins. The first treaty of commerce was made by the Siamese government with England in 1857, since which a little has been added to our knowledge of the country and its people. The area of Siam is twice that of Great Britain and Ireland. The population is said to be about 6,000,000.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Pure Chloroform.

A Frenchman has succeeded in making commercially pure chloroform. Heretofore this has been considered impossible. As the impurities in chloroform are generally the cause of its fatal effects, the Frenchman's achievement is regarded as very important.—Mechanical and Electrical Progress.

Just as man's existence upon this planet would have been impossible had not the pre-existing forests furnished a rich vegetable mold to give fertility to the soil, so the entire extinction of the forests now would in time bring mankind to a disastrous end.

Farm Land Investments.

Every close observer of events has noticed the increased growing demand for agricultural lands, and every reader of this notice will remember when Iowa, Minnesota, and Nebraska lands were on the market at five dollars per acre. Today they are worth from thirty to fifty dollars per acre, and thousands of men who invested in them less than ten years ago are now rich as the result. The time has come when land anywhere in America that will grow successfully all or any of the staple farm products is a valuable and safe investment. On the line of the Southern Division of the Illinois Central Railroad, in the states of Mississippi and Louisiana, can be found thousands of acres of farm lands that with the use of fertilizer will grow successfully cotton, cane and corn, three of the leading agricultural products of this country. These lands are also especially adapted to the growing of fruits and vegetables of every variety, and yet these lands can be bought at from three to ten dollars per acre, less than half the income from a single year. From one to three hundred dollars per acre is realized from strawberries, and the same amount from asparagus and other vegetables. From fifty to one hundred and fifty dollars per acre from cane is not an unusual thing. No investment is equal to the farm lands, and the southern country above referred to offers an opportunity unexcelled in this or any other country. The Illinois Central Railroad have on sale winter tourist ticket to Jackson and McComb City, Miss., and Hammond, Louisiana. Parties who would examine these lands should purchase a round trip ticket to one of the above named points.

Careless Railroading at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Through the recklessness of an employe in attempting to do some switching on another train's time yesterday morning a train of empty coaches collided with the smoking car of a suburban train in the yards of the Chicago and Northwestern railway, and a dozen passengers were more or less injured. Four persons had to be given surgical aid before they could leave the station. The worst hurt were D. R. Proctor, A. N. Gage, E. Rosenheim, A. O. Swift, and Philip P. Lee. The injuries were cuts and contusions, and none serious.

The total number of miles of street railways in the United States and Canada is 11,029, of which 5,442 are operated by animal power, 3,000 by electric power, 1,918 by steam power and 660 by cable power.

A railway is now being built from La Paz, in Bolivia, to the headwaters of the River Madeira, in Brazil, which is the main tributary of the Amazon, thus giving a water outlet for the Bolivian products.
